"The Episcopal Church has long been interested in migrant workers. One of our Suffragan Bishops, The Right Reverend William L. Hargrave, has long served as the past president of the Florida Council of Churches department of Migrant Ministry."

"We believe the Church can best function when local people who understand local problems work out their own problems."

"We do not welcome or encourage Episcopalianism, clergy or laymen, from other parts of the country here. They must work at solving their problems we ours."

"We stand ready to help either farmers or laborers in any way, and to the best of our ability."

The Bishop listed four persons who are official representatives of the Diocese of South Florida. "Any official statement of the Episcopal Church will be made by them," he said.

Thought of the Week

It is easier to find a score of men wise enough to discover the truth than to find one intelligent enough, in the face of opposition, to stand up for it.

Food Abundance, A Consumer Blessing

"The U. S. consumer has three interrelated blessings: His food abundance, his food bargain, and his high level of living. But without our great food abundance, he would not have the other two."

"The total quantity of food eaten by 195 million Americans in 1965 staggers the imagination. It would fill eight freight trains with each train stretching all the way from New York City to San Francisco."

The foregoing is an excerpt from a chapter of a remarkable publication entitled, "Protecting Our Food." The publication is The Yearbook of Agriculture issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The 1966 edition is a timely contribution toward broader public understanding of the fantastic and historically unprecedented material abundance that has flowed to the American people from modern agricultural technologies. As Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture, writes in the Forward "We in the United States are fortunate. Our food abundance is one of the miracles of the age, with great gains in the last 20 years. In today's supermarkets the American housewife can choose among 7,000 to 8,000 items; two decades ago the food shopper could select only 3,000 items. Our frozen food industry will produce 10 billion pounds in 1966, compared with 1.5 billion in 1946." Mr. Freeman then goes on to describe how Americans are eating as never before and at the same time are spending a smaller percentage of the total family budget for food than they were, for example, in 1946. As the title of "The Year Book indicates, much of the job of protecting our food is devoted to the eternal battle against insects and disease. Not only do the cold facts it presents serve as a mute rebuke to such things as consumer strikes, but they also show the incongruity of the position of the extreme antipesticide crusaders. It has this to say on the subject of chemicals, "If chemicals could not be used for pest control, farmers' production of crops and livestock might increase by 25 percent in a few years. Additional losses would occur from stored-product insects, ranging from 10 percent for vegetables to 15 or 20 percent for stored grains. With such losses, most food items would be in short supply, and prices of food would rise greatly."

Several sections of the book are devoted to describing the cooperative efforts of government—federal, state and local—and the agricultural chemical industry in promoting the safe use of chemicals. Exhaustive research in field and laboratory is slowly raising the standards of chemical application to a fine science. Labor savings from the use of chemicals in agriculture, when used in conjunction with agricultural machinery, are nothing less than phenomenal. In the U. S., it requires only 2 man-days of work per acre compared to 400 man-days of work in the Far East to attain equivalent yields. Malnutrition and starvation are constant companions of the Asiatic citizen.

Other chapters in the book deal with such things as fallout, government food reserves, regulation and control of research. Such limited adequate discussion of all these subjects, but the overall message is unmistakable. Americans, at least in the foreseeable future need have no fear of insufficient food thanks to the sheer miracle of U. S. agricultural production—a miracle that has combined the talents of science, industry and farmers in a manner that offers hope to the whole world. It is a story without parallel in the annals of mankind. It is a story with which far too few of us are familiar and which shines like a beacon over the turmoil and uncertainties of our time.

Asking For A Chance

Conceivably the day may be approaching when it may be good politics, as well as a national necessity, to bring federal income and outgo into balance. A late Opinion Research Corporation survey shows that 71 per cent of the people approved a cut in federal spending as an alternative to a further tax increase to help control inflation.

The big question now is will spending cuts be looked upon with favor when they begin to pinch, or will it be the old story all over again of being in favor of government economy so long as it is your next door neighbor who is making the sacrifices? Congressmen trying to keep their constituents happy are pouring billions of dollars down the drain of countless federal projects and programs. This, not the war in Viet Nam, is slowly bankrupting the country. The war in Viet Nam has come on top of a trend that already existed, a trend toward fiscal insolvency. If the people mean what the Opinion Research poll indicates, there may be some hope of bringing federal spending under control. It would not take too much effort nor too much sacrifice.

The tremendous productivity of our industries and our people can guarantee the financial integrity of the nation if given half a chance. Perhaps the polls and recent elections indicate that we are asking for that chance—before it is too late.

Crazy Quilt Diplomacy

In cooperation with a United Nations Security Council decision to impose economic sanctions on 12 key Rhodesian exports, the U. S. is banning more than 80 per cent of American imports from that country. Rhodesia is not an enemy of the United States. North Viet Nam is, but we have not demanded that our allies among the Western nations, England included, stop trading with her even while that nation is engaged in killing as many American servicemen as possible. There may be good reasons for this topsy-turvy dealing, but they are impossible for most of us to understand.—Industrial News Review.

Good Medicine For Both

The public has been conditioned to expect another tax increase, and it has been instructed to curb its spending as a means of holding down prices. Government officials should recommend the same medicine for themselves. Government spending and debt create inflation and depreciate our money.

As one reads the editorials in the country weekly and daily newspapers, one sees more and more comment on the failure of Congress to curb its own spending, while asking the people to be frugal. Only the people can control the spenders, who will not control themselves.

NOT A VERY FUNNY SHOW!

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
My preacher was always telling the congregation a honest confession was good for the soul and the felers at the country store Saturday night was showing improvement on their soul.

First off, I saw Webster of the Great Society confessed he has got so old in the main of life no more, for instant, said Clem, for all his three score and ten year he has been a distant admirer of the woman's knees, but he ain't never thought wimmen's knees was one of their strong points. And now, reported Ed Doolie said what we got now was wimmen, what we used to wear no skirt at all and they was coming as fast as they could. But here, allowed Ed, was where I old foggies was getting out of the mainstream. While we was lamenting about the wimmen's knees, the manufacturers was making a skirt for ever day in the mainstream for the same material they used to put in one regular frock.

Furthermore, claimed Ed, no sooner did skirts was getting up in orbit than them felers in the mainstream started giving new ways to make new out of it. He said he had saw in the papers where a woman was coming out with special leg makeup and knee gimmers and false tattoos to put on the kneecap. He predicted afore 1967 was over the commercials on tooth paste.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

The Farm Front

By Doyle Cooney

Florida's fledgling quarter horse breeding industry has taken one step toward national prominence.

This step was made possible by Go Dick Go, the best racing quarter horse ever bred and raised in the state. By earning a whopping $250,519 in 1966, he became the all-time money-winner for a two-year-old.

Sired by Little Dick Priest at Raymont Tucker's Hay Creek Ranch in Bunnell, Go Dick Go is owned and trained by Joe Leitner of Brandon.

The chestnut quarter horse first moved into the spotlight in 1956 by handsily winning the Florida Quarter Horse Association's (FQHA) Rebel Futurity at Jacksonville's Pecan Park Raceway. He also won the FQHA's Florida-Bred Futurity.

With these impressive showings, Leitner entered his horse in the All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico, the richest horse race in the world.

Facing up against the top racing quarter horses in the nation, Go Dick Go won by a head—going the 400 yards in the short time of 20.27 seconds. His net place earnings: a record $198,300.

In addition to breaking a record, the Florida colt was officially proclaimed "Horse of the Year" at Ruidoso Downs, along with being named the number one two-year-old quarter horse in the track's annual poll.

At the end of the racing season, Go Dick Go had run up an outstanding record of 15 wins in 20 starts.

The impact this colt will have on Florida's quarter horse breeding industry, of course, is a matter of conjecture. However, I feel certain that the industry will expand and improve substantially.

would be squeezing it on a woman's knee instead of her teeth.

Even the lawyers, said Zeke Grubb, was giving in the mainstream. He reported he had saw where this young girl got her knee cut in a car wreck and she used the driver. The court gave her $2,000 in damages and said the reason was he was too high the car could easily handpick her future.

The storekeeper butted in to say he didn't know the half of it, that they was now putting dresses on the market made out of paper. They was claiming we got throw away towels, plates, table cloths, iron-on shirts, and the rest of the world was out in the mainstream.

"Incidental, Mister Editor, the next time you hear a woman say she ain't got nothing to wear, just hand her a copy of your newspaper and tell her to go paste herself up a new outfit."

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Powell's Arrogance

The U. S. House of Representatives took a long overdue step when it refused to reauthorize Adam Clayton Powell, at least until a congressional probe has been completed. For years, Rev. Powell, the Harlem preacher politician, has acted as though he were above the law. He could not even go into his own district in New York State because he had thumbed his nose at the New York court and refused to pay a lawful judgment handed down against him. Mr. Powell's contempt for Congress was evident up till the last moment before he left Capitol Hill in his long, black limousine. He referred to his colleagues in Congress as "lynchers" and "rats." He didn't even use the kind word for the hard-core liberals in the House who stuck to his cause.

The decision of the House against seating Rev. Powell was a good thing. In these days of power blocs and arrogant political factions, a new breed of politician has grown up who scorn the laws respectable men and women live by even as these politicians talk endlessly of broadening the base of democracy. The laws of the land are for all the people, but many of the most "liberal" politicians apparently regard these laws as applicable only to the "little people."

It may be viewed by some persons as a minor matter, but one can't help realizing President Johnson's wild driving in the vicinity of his ranch in Texas. Newsweek magazine reported that he frequently drives at speeds of up to almost 100 miles an hour. This is against the law in Texas, but the law isn't enforced against Mr. Johnson. Yet one can be sure that many ordinary folks in Texas are arrested and fined because they exceed the speed limit by only a few miles an hour.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

In these days, when Patrick Henry's famous cry, "Give liberty or give me death," has been abbreviated to just plain "give me," it's refreshing to come across a man of stature who still thinks folks should earn their way.

Roy Tuckheimer, one of the best known industrial executives, recently retired after 50 years in the business and located in Florida. Not content to settle in a rocking chair, he has become an associate of fast growing Teare Industries in Palm Beach, Florida.

"You don't make something of yourself," he points out. "You give them the opportunity to make something of themselves."

From personal experience, Tuckheimer believes in rewarding his employees. He encourages them. He started out 56 years ago as an office boy in Chicago and made his own way up the ladder to become chairman of the executive committee of the Continental National American group of insurance companies, one of the largest insurance writing organizations in the United States.

While admitting that the days of office boys becoming top flight executives in business and industry are long gone, he contends that it is still possible if worthy employees are recognized and given an opportunity for advancement in the old American tradition.

"Young men need to be pushed, not hard, but they need to be pushed," he asserted. "They should be given responsibilities that will spur them on with the knowledge that their effort is appreciated. I like to make a man a vice president a little before he is really ready. After he realizes how much he doesn't know, he can polish him into a good executive."

Industry today has to have men of education but it also needs men of ambition, energy and understanding. One of the country's current weaknesses in industry has been its supply of top drawer executive talent.

An exciting taskmaster, Tuckheimer believes in rewarding those who deserve it. "Nobody gets to the top of the ladder without having somebody hold the ladder and encourage him to climb."

There is a lot of promising executive talent ignored today because we are placing too much emphasis on "I, Q," and "I, will."

Expressing himself as pleased to be associated with Teare Enterprises, he said, "I have known Malcolm H. Teare for many years and feel my experience and association with the organization is continued growth and progress."

In addition to his post with Teare Enterprises, Tuckheimer is a member of the Continental board.

Por el Rev. Cesar M. Benitez.

SI DIOS OLVIDARA:

Si Dios olvidara al mundo, aunque fuera solamente por un dia: si El olvidara mandar la luz del sol para cambiar la noche en dia: si El olvidara hacer brotar las flores, olvidara las aves y las abejas: si olvidara cambiar el tiempo y enviar la suavidad del viento del sur: si El olvidara concedernos amigos, mandarnos la lluvia, dar a los niños la alegría del juego: si Dios olvidara sanar las heridas, suavizar los dolores — Que pasaría con este triste mundo y con nosotros? Podríamos nosotros jamás volver a sonreír si Dios nos olvidara por un solo día? (Benedicte)

Los otros días al caminar por una de las calles de tráfico observaba a las personas que iban conduciendo sus carros. Una dama en la parada de la luz roja se peinaba, otra acariciaba a su perro y otra miraba su rostro en el espejo. Me di cuenta, si cuidáramos el alma con la atención que lo hacemos a las cosas materiales el mundo sería diferente.

Decimos que el mundo anda muy, muy mal, pero nos hemos pegado a pedras que nosotros construimos al mundo. No será que amamos mal y el producto de nuestra conducta es el efecto en la sociedad?

Hay quien dice a lo bueno malo y a lo malo bueno. Pero los caminos de la ley de Dios son perfectos. La vida de Cristo es ejemplo supremo. Si vivimos como cristianos en la práctica diaria el mundo tendrá más y más luz.

Coffee Honors New Members Of Church Society

The Women's Society of Christian Service held a coffee in the Community Methodist Church parlor at 10 A. M. Tuesday.

The event was given in honor of members who have joined the church and the Society during the past year. The table was beautiful with a centerpiece of bronze and yellow cut flowers. The same yellow theme was carried out in the corsages presented to the honorees.

Mrs. James B. Evans, secretary membership cultivation and her committee were in charge of arrangements.

Musical Team Appearing Here At Alliance Church 3 Nights

The Mechly-Johnson Evangelistic Party will be singing, and speaking, playing and painting in special services which began Jan. 25 and is continuing through Jan. 24 and 26 at the Alliance Church, 425 E. Canal Street, N., Belle Glade, Fla.

As individual teams, this group has ministered in hundreds of churches and cities throughout the nation. The combined talents and ministries of these teams offer a still greater variety of programs in presenting the Gospel in Music, Word, and Picture. Ruth and Dorothy Johnson have sung and played the old hymns for over fifteen years. The most recent member of their party, Connie Stilwell, having joined them three years ago, is a most dedicated and talented organist and pianist.

From the opening theme song, "Jesus is Coming Again" to the closing benediction you will be thrilled by the inspiring hymns of the church as they are presented vocally and upon the many instruments.

These include the vibratour, cathedral chimes, two sets of cowbells, Cordovox, musical saw, saxophone, sleigh bells, Pakistan bells, celestine, auto-harp, uke, and what is believed to be the largest set of perfectly tuned glasses in the world.

Over forty glasses are played under special lighting by the group. Before the message of the evening by Evangelist L. M. Mechly, an oil painting is painted in fluorescent oil colors in five to eight minutes, with soft appropriate organ music and singing by the group.

If you did not attend Wednesday night, a treat will be in store for you, or if you did attend, you will enjoy the music and talents of these musicians over and over again.

Good Works

"For as the body away from the spirit is dead, so faith apart from works is dead."

— James 2:26

Christianity means much more than going to church once or twice a week. Taking the body to church is a small physical effort; it is more difficult to achieve a presence of mind, heart and soul.

It is not enough to say we have faith, and to believe. We must show faith, in the daily conduct of our lives, in our constant approach to problems and situations.

In the performance of good works, faith is strong and most clearly evident.

Business Department

The Business Department of the Belle Glade High School is leading to occupations in business. The department is one of the newest to be organized at the school. The courses are the ones needed to prepare students for jobs, after graduation or for further education in the business field. Typing, shorthand, general business, and bookkeeping are traditional courses offered with a total student enrollment of 241.

Clerical Office Practice, a new course with an enrollment of 22 students, is preparation for actual office work. After one semester of work from a text book, the class is ready for a semester of experience. They will become proficient in the use of adding, transcribing, duplicating and transcribing machines. These students will also be using electric typewriters.

Mr. Bernard Painter became head of the business department in 1959. Before coming here, he taught in Pennsylvania. Both Mr. Painter and Mr. James Rasco have married since they have been in Belle Glade. The Painters are the parents of two sons.

Mr. Painter holds a Master's Degree from Pennsylvania State University; Mr. Rasco is a graduate of Florida Atlantic University at the end of this summer.

The business department has the honor of being the only department to have had an intern teacher, Mrs. Jimmy Williams, since a graduate of Florida Atlantic University, interned under Mr. Painter during the fall trimester last year.

Students of the Week:

Ronnie Gerrey

Ronald Eldon Gerrey, better known around school as Ronnie, was born December 10, 1948, in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Ronnie has been going to school in Belle Glade since the seventh grade and now, during his senior year, is President of the senior class and vice-president of the student council.

Last year he attended Florida Boy's State as a guest of the American Legion. An outstanding student, he was chosen to receive the Harvard Award presented by the Harvard Club in behalf of Harvard University. This was the first year of presenting this award in Belle Glade; however, it will be presented annually.

After graduation, Ronnie plans to major in Business Administration at Florida State University and eventually go into a successful business.

Laura Livingston

Because of her interest and constant activity in her class, school, and community work, Laura Margaret Livingston, better known as "Laura," was chosen as Student of the Week. Born on July 26, 1949, Laura has lived in Belle Glade all of her life. In the tenth grade, she was elected by her class as Miss Sophomore. When she was a Junior, Laura was selected by the American Legion to represent Belle Glade at Florida Girl's State. This, she said, was a great honor and a life-time memory.

Laura lists her favorite class as Journalism and her favorite pastime as working on the Rambler. Because of her devotion to this area, Laura was elected by the Journalism Class as co-editor of the Rambler. Adding her part to the school spirit, Laura is also an active member of Pop Club and Beta Club.

As if this weren't enough to keep her busy, Laura holds a part time job after school taking inventory at Everglades Farm Equipment.

Laura lists her pet peeve as vain people and says that her dream world contains a 1967 Cougar. Her favorite song is "Happy" and her color is red. She also enjoys cooking, sewing, and playing tennis.

Two term president of Para Medics, Laura plans to enter the field of nursing at Mather School of Nursing in New Orleans, Louisiana after graduation. She has intensified this desire to be of service to others by serving as a Candystrapper at Glades General Hospital. In an unselfish way, Laura plans to devote her life to helping others.

Rams Clash With Tigers

Belle Glade, which holds first place in the Western Division of the Suncoast Conference, will meet Clewiston tomorrow night at the Clewiston home court.

This will be the second meeting with Clewiston. The first was December 13 at Belle Glade. Coach Luke suspects that the Tigers will be hard to beat this time. There are several reasons for this belief.

"They lost to us last time and we are playing in their gym. Belle Glade should be able to win if they can contain Clewiston's Roger McCray, who is the leading scorer in the conference," Coach Luke said.

Next Tuesday's game is with Lake Worth, who lost to us last year.

Masons were brought to Coral Gables from Cuba in the 1920's to guarantee authenticity to the city's walkways and arches that visitors pass through when entering the Mediterranean-styled community.

Seniors Are Half Way To Graduation

The first semester of the 1966-67 school year came to an end last week. For some this was a happy event, but for others it was a sad time. With the end of this semester many memories were brought to a peak, especially for the seniors.

The juniors and seniors both completed their magazine sales. The seniors have the highest sales record, $6,137.37, for this school. Next year the sophomores will try to beat the class of '67.

Decorating for the prom is a wonderful time, as any senior will tell you. The juniors and sophomores both have this to look forward to. They will try to outdo the decorations the seniors made for "Love is a Many Splendored Thing." The seniors are really looking forward to a wonderful and beautiful prom for the juniors this year.

The senior class has been honored for two years straight with the winning floats. The theme in '66 was "Bail on Rams." This year's theme was "We're with you Rams." The float had a white graduation cap with a blue and gold tassel hanging from the brim of the cap. It also had a diploma with a portion of the Alma Mater written in gold. Riding on the float were Frances Collins and Troy Martin.

There are still many events for the seniors during this second semester. They have the senior play to look forward to which is always a success and a lot of fun. To close the year they have Class Night, which recalls the past memories and happy events of the Class of '67 starting with the first year of school. Baccalaureate when a minister talks to the senior class and gives them a challenge to try to live up to in their future years, and last of all GRADUATION, when the seniors take their big step to face the world on their own.

For seniors, there isn't much time to decide what they will do next year. Many will go to college, others will begin their working career, some will go into the service, a few will get married, and others will go to business schools. Wherever they go or what ever they do, they will always remember the happy events of high school and the wonderful friends they made.

3 Winners Announced In Contest

Two Belle Glade High School students and one former student were the winners of the Belle Glade Lions Club essay contest on the subject, "Peace is Attainable."

Guy Wilson, Jr., the first place winner, now a student at Palm Beach Junior College, is a graduate of Belle Glade High School.

The local contest is the first in a series of elimination contests to be held and leading to the national contest. The national contest first place winners award will be a $25,000 scholarship, a gold medal and a trip to the Lions International Convention.

Second and third place winners were Zodiac Shapiro and Susan Hughes.

Shapiro, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shapiro of South Bay, is a junior and came to Belle Glade High School from Miami.

Susan Hughes, a sophomore honor student at BGHS is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hughes, Runyon Sugar Camp, U. S. Sugar Co.

The winners of the contest were announced last week at the Lions club weekly meeting at the Civic Center.

Ten students from the Glades area participated in this contest. Four entrants were from BGHS, two from Belle Glade Junior High School, two from Lake Shore High School and two from Palm Beach Junior College.

The contest was announced last year to students. Age limits were set between 14 and 22.

Food scientists with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations are carrying out an expanded research program to improve food and storage quality of Florida's animal products.

Teacher Of The Week: Mr. Sam Lovell

WHO IS IT?

Some people look at hair some look at a person's smile when trying to recognize a familiar face.

When shown this picture of a senior girl in her younger years, some of the following comments were made:

Troy Martin — "She's got kinky hair. It must be Laura."

Larry Norman — "The steps (?) look familiar. I bet they're Doris Willis."

Frances C. — "I think it's Kathy — no, wait a minute. It's — yes — no — yep, it's Doris because she used to have curly hair."

Ronnie Gerrey — "Sure has funny legs, must be Doris Willis."

Mr. Morris — "It favors Ronnie Gerrey."

Pat Bowen — "I know — it's Mrs. LaFlair."

Barbara Ellis — "Who's the kid with the curls?"

Cookie Drawdy — "She's cute. Has curly hair — who has curly hair in the senior class?"

Laura Livingston — "That's Doris Willis!"

That's right Laura, this pert curly haired youngster who has a marked resemblance to Shirley Temple is Doris Willis.

Mr. Sam Lovell has taught agriculture here for fourteen years. A native of the Glades, he is well acquainted with the agricultural problems of the area. His interest in his students and in the subject he teaches has earned him the title "Teacher of the Week."

Since Mr. Lovell joined the faculty, farm acreage has increased from 60 to the present 140 acres. There has been an increase in the number of cattle, but a decrease in vegetable acreage. In keeping up with the times, 41 acres of sugar cane were planted in 1961.

His interests vary from football to fishing. He is a fan of both the Rams and the Florida Gators; and in his spare time is seen fishing on Lake Okechobee.

A graduate of Pahokee High School, Mr. Lovell holds a B. S. from the University of Florida and a Master's from Florida Atlantic University. He has taught in Duval, Dade, and Indian River Counties.

Even the ash tray rides smoother in Chevrolets

When you're down at your dealer's trying out a new Chevrolet, be sure you pull out the ash tray. Notice how nice and easy it glides, never hanging up or even scraping. The reason is, it rides on ball bearings. Four shiny little ball bearings. (Take the tray all the way out and you'll see them.) You say you don't even smoke? Then look at it this way. That ash tray is a symbol of the way we make cars: Paying extra attention to the little things as well as the big ones, as a way of making extra sure your '67 Chevrolet gives you

Kampus Highlights

After our semester exams, we can see that we really need to study.

January 19, 1967 will be long remembered by Mrs. Peele, she was informed that the Yearbook would be dedicated to her.

The F. H. A. invited all teachers to attend their first annual Teacher's Luncheon January 24, at 12:00.

The child care class under the direction of Mrs. L. V. Mack recently visited the Wee Care Center.

An interesting assembly was given by the Agriculture Department on Friday last week.

The Lake Shore Chapter of Girl Scouts marched in the Palm Beach County Fair and Exposition Parade on Friday, January 20.

Lake Shore is really tightening down in the disciplinary department so everyone had better watch their step.

The Senior Superlatives have taken their pictures are to be seen in the yearbook.

The members of the yearbook staff are really on the ball.

Kill this pellitory weed
in sugarcane.
Use Atrazine. Here's how:

When you see pellitory weed starting to grow, apply Atrazine 80W herbicide, plus a little surfactant. You'll clean out infestations of this winter annual fast and effectively without hurting cane.

Atrazine is safe to sugarcane. It will not injure your crop when you apply it as directed on the label. And since it's non-volatile, there's no danger of drift to adjacent, sensitive crops.

Even though Atrazine has proved to control pellitory at any stage of growth, early treatment assures best results. With pellitory under control early, you grow more sugarcane per acre.

That's because Atrazine prevents pellitory from interfering with sugarcane tillering. Also, Atrazine helps make soil moisture and nutrients available for your cane, and not for pellitory weed.

So plan now to grow the maximum tonnage of sugarcane from each acre you plant this season, just use Atrazine to control pellitory weed this winter.

Arbor Day Celebrated

Arbor Day, Jan. 20 was observed at Lake Shore High School with a special program and tree-planting — ceremony.

The program was attended by 500 students, and included selected readings and a beautiful rendition of "Trees" by Doris McClam. Most of the program was centered on the history of Arbor Day, with emphasis on trees and the value of forests to Florida and the nation.

Forests provide more than 5,000 items useful to man. Florida's forest industry, alone, produces one billion dollars annually.

Florida was one of the first states to observe a Tree Planting Day, in 1886. All states observes Arbor Day, though some on different dates. Florida's Arbor Day is the third Friday in January.

Special literature on the importance of conservation was given to all students requesting it at Lake Shore High School. Following the program, students took part in planting a palm tree and slash pine trees. The pine seedlings were made available at no cost to Lake Shore High School as well as more than 300 other schools in the state.

School visitors on Arbor Day included Mr. Norman Berzona, who delivered an interesting speech pertaining to Arbor Day.
